HORSE HAIR JEWELRY:

Creating a 4-strand adjustable horse hair bracelet

More than just a mode of transportation and daily companion, the horse has been a source of fiber for creating horse tack, belts, fishing line and even building materials.

Learn about the early uses of horse hair among Native American Indians, cowboys, royalty and even construction workers as you handcraft a 4-strand adjustable horse hair bracelet.

In this class you will learn how to “spin” individual horse hairs into “pulls” and braid them into a 4-strand braid. You’ll then transform the braid into an adjustable bracelet by choosing from a variety of beads to finish the project.

*Horse hair will be supplied for the class, but you can also bring tail hair from your own horse. Please contact the instructor at Susan@Redtaildesigns.com or 610-905-8399 for details on how to clean your horse hair before the class.
