PORCUPINE QUILLWORK PART 1: Colors of the Past

(Teenagers and Adults) 2 hours. Before beads became popular, Native American Indians created colorful embellishments for clothing, pipes, and bags with a most unique material: porcupine quills. Join us as we explore this art form that dates to before the 1500s. You'll try your hand at this ancient art as we learn how to wrap quills to create a medicine wheel and plait quills into a strand that can be wrapped around a pipe or knife handle. Along the way you'll discover the tools and techniques Indians used to manipulate quills into works of art, and we'll peek into the unique life of the prickly porcupine.

Instructor: Susan Newquist

Class fee: Members $45/ Nonmembers $50

Materials fee: $10

PORCUPINE QUILLWORK PART 2: Stories in the Quills

(Teenagers and Adults) 2 ½ hours. Using dyed porcupine quills, you'll learn how to create pictures and symbols on leather in the tradition of Lenape (woodland) and Plains Indians. You can help revive a dying art as you learn the fundamental stitches of porcupine quillwork. Attendance at the first workshop (Porcupine Quillwork Part 1: Colors of the Past) is suggested but not required.
